Continuation of 3. NOTE: For independent claims 1, 11, and 21 as well as any dependent claims; Modifying the claim to not have the interactive service be executed by the broadcasting server changes the scope of the invention.

DETAILED ACTION

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed 6/22/06 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

Page 13, last paragraph:

The applicant is arguing a limitation that is not found in claim 7, but instead is found in claim 1. As this limitation is not in the claim, it does not require consideration. The rejection stands.

Page 14, second paragraph:

The applicant argues that the broadcasting server (BBC1 in figure 1) and the interactive server (CCS) are not managed independently. The applicant (on page 14, paragraph 5) admits, "the CSS in Malaure does not communicate with the Broadcast TV stations." If there is no communication between them, it would seem that they are separate entities (as shown in figure 1) and are managed separately. The rejection stands.

The applicant argues that Malaure does not "teach that the interactive server receives information specifying an interactive service from the broadcasting server."

The second paragraph of claim 7 (where this limitation is found) does not specify that the interactive server receive the information, only that the broadcast server transmits it.

Application/Control Number: 09/960,301

Art Unit: 2623

Therefore the cited portion of Malaure, where the receiver receives this information, meets the limitation. The rejection stands.

The rejection of independent claim has been shown to be valid, and therefore the rejections of the dependent claims stand.
